

EHTEL – European Health Telematics Association

The "European Health Telematics Association" (EHTEL) contributes to the implementation of information and communication technologies in the health and social domain. EHTEL believes that eHealth tools offer substantial benefits in terms of improving:

- Quality of health for patients and citizens
- Access to services
- Efficiency of care
- Cost effectiveness

EHTEL, as a membership driven European association, offers a platform to all stakeholders of eHealth in order to exchange information, to identify problems and find solutions for the implementation of the above goals. This is realized through networking between the stakeholders, the organization of conferences, workshops and specific task forces.
